U. S. TROOPS GUARD RAILROAD

It is possible that the order for troop protection will be extended to the El Paso and Southwestern railroad, west of here, as it runs near the Mexican border. The Southern Pacific west of El Paso, except for a very short distance, is not close to the international line. It is believed militia will be used for much of this patrol and railroad guard duty.

Texas is planning to raise another regiment in addition to the four infantry regiments and the squadron of cavalry and battalion of artillery already assembled at San Antonio. Adjutant General Hotchings consulted with General Funston at San Antonio relative to the recruiting of additional regiments for the Texas guard.

All ranches in the lower Boquillas and Glen Springs districts are deserted. The ranchers, with their families are concentrated at the Kinney Springs ranch standing guard. Refugees have been gathering there recently until the ranchmen believe they are capable of withstanding any threatened attack from bandits.

STRIKE PICKETS ARE ATTACKED.

Cleveland, O.—One man was killed in front of a bakery on Woodland avenue when strike pickets were attacked by a flying wedge of four men, who burst through the bakery door in a rage over the halting of a woman customer by the strike guards. Joseph Feld was struck down in the fight and pummeled with a banner he was carrying and later was picked up unconscious. He died in a hospital an hour later of a fractured skull. Bernard Rosen, owner of a chain of bakeries, with his sons, was arrested. All were charged with murder.

SECRET BASES ARE DESTROYED.

London.—A dispatch from Milan to Lloyds says that the two chief secret bases of Austro-Hungarian submarines in the Southern Mediterranean have been definitely destroyed as a sequel to the Italian occupation of Marsa Morea and Porto Bardia, between Cyrenaica and Egypt.

NEW YORK FACTORIES INCREASE.

Albany, N. Y.—The volume of business transacted in New York state during April required 21 per cent more employees, who received 37 per cent more in wages than in April, 1915, according to a monthly report issued by the Bureau of Statistics and Information of the State Industrial Commission. The most important increases were in the chemicals, oils and paints group, the stone, clay and glass products group, and the metal machinery and conveyance group.

fantry activity in the region of Verdun. The Germans directed an intermittent bombardment against the first and second lines of French trenches, west of the Meuse, as though in preparation for an attack, but none came.

In the Champaign region several weak attacks were directed against the French positions, but the French, by artillery fire or counter attacks, prevented any gain by the enemy. Earlier in the day the French forces succeeded in sweeping the Germans from a first line trench south of the Somme, near Verdunvillers.

Bombardments of great vigor by both sides took place in the Champagne region. The French succeeded in entering a German work-in west of Mount Teta, according to a French statement.

Attempts of the British to recapture the positions taken by the Germans a few days ago near Hulluch, in northern France, and sharp fighting in other sections of the western front broke down in face of the Teutons' defense, Berlin announces, and, according to the German statement. The strain caused by the apparent deadlock between the entente powers and Greece over the proposed transportation of Serbian soldiers from Corfu to the Saloniki front was relieved when it was announced that an agreement had been reached and that the neutrality of Greece would not be violated.

According to an Austrian statement, attacks by the Italians on the northern slope of Monte San Michels have been repulsed with heavy losses.

SHOOT INTERNED ALIENS

Austrians in Canada Try to Break Away From Camp.

Toronto, Ont., May 16.—A serious clash has occurred at Kapuskasing internment camp in northern Ontario, between several hundred interned alien enemies and the three hundred soldiers on guard. Reports are fragmentary, but a dispatch from Cochrane says one alien is dead, nine severely injured and four others less seriously hurt.

Trouble had occurred at Petewawa internment camp in eastern Ontario, last week and the aliens being too much for the guard six carloads of Austrians were sent to Kapuskasing. On arrival they refused to do manual labor, and while their leaders were held in counsel the others rushed the camp only to be met by bayonets, while shots were fired at some who attempted to flee.

No Cause For Worry. "Mind now," said the judge, "you are sworn to tell the truth, and if you do not the penitentiary will be your portion."

The man took the oath and then whispered to his friend:

"John, I'm afeared it's all up with you. The judge says I've got to tell the truth."

"That's all right, Jim," said his friend, with confidence. "I ain't a-wor-ryin' 'bout that, kase you can't do it."—Buffalo News.

MANY STATES FAVOR DU PONT

SENTIMENT FOR HIM CRYSTALLIZES AROUND CONVICTION THAT NATION NEEDS A BUSINESS MAN AS CHIEF EXECUTIVE.

DELAWARE MAN BEGAN AS A MINE MULE DRIVER

New York, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Alabama, Delaware, Kentucky, Indiana and Others, Swinging to Man Who Has Raised Himself From Mule Driver to Be One of the Most Successful Business Men in the Country.

The rapidity with which the boom for Coleman du Pont for president is spreading is winning favor with laborers as well as businessmen, miners as well as operators in fact, all those who know Coleman du Pont personally, or are at all acquainted with his ability and his business methods are lending aid to the movement which promises to reveal him as the "dark horse" at the Chicago convention, and secure for him the Republican nomination for president.

According to an article in the Central City (Ky.) Argus, Democrats as well as Republicans are lending aid to the du Pont movement. It says:

"There is sound reason for the du Pont boom in Kentucky, where he began at the bottom as a mule driver in a coal mine, for which he received the magnificent sum of fifteen dollars per month. He fought it out with his mine mule, developing those traits of determination and patience which a mine mule driver requires, and made good. Step by step he advanced, through every phase of mine employment, finally becoming superintendent. Then, outgrowing this position he went elsewhere. The remainder of his career is history. Sheer ability and an understanding of men has placed him among the captains of industry of the United States, a leader in finance, development and charity. The latter trait has always been outstanding in character."

COLEMAN DU PONT.

The regard in which Coleman du Pont is held by his associates is little short of worship. They are spreading this sentiment throughout the country. No stronger evidence of this fact could be given than is contained in the following by Thomas L. Cannon in the Birmingham (Ala.) State Sentinel, a democratic newspaper:

"With decade upon decade of American patriotism bred into his forebears and constantly transmitted to him, the production of the highest type of American manhood in his personality is not surprising.

"Washington at Valley Forge and all through the terrific and unequal struggle for American citizenship did not depend on any one to produce successful results more than he did upon DeNemours, the powder maker.

"With all reverence to LaFayette, it would be no overrecognition to see the kinsman of DeNemours utilize his accumulated powers to serve this republic as its chief.

"Mr. du Pont is the embodiment of success. Experienced in business activities, trained in statecraft, socially equipped to meet the elite of civilization, he could assume any duty with confidence and success.

"Possessing courage and convictions, with force to impress upon all his individuality, he has the lovable gentleness that marks the man of power.

"Able to influence captains of big business, also to sway the less fortunate through an innate sense of the justice, he produces the great-eat good to the greatest number."

"Rich in resourcefulness, ripe in experience, rare in achievements, he is eminently fitted for any place.

"Without reflection on merit, without critical comparison, the republic has not produced one son to whom Coleman du Pont is not peer."

His friends will put him before the convention as an active candidate already. Delaware has declared for him as a favorite son; New York is for him as a "dark horse." Kentucky will swing to him, and so will many middle and western states. His nomination is no longer a mere possibility, but is assuming the form of a probability.

The Chipmunk Is a Hermit.

Evidently the chipmunk has no partner and will spend the winter in his subterranean retreat alone. I think this is an established chipmunk custom, rendered necessary, it may be, by the scant supply of air in such close quarters, three feet underground, and maybe under three or more feet of snow in addition. At any rate, the chipmunk, male and female, is a hermit, and there is no co-operation or true sociability among them. They are wonderfully provident and industrious, beginning to store up their winter food in midsummer or as early as the farmer does his.—John Burroughs in Harper's Magazine.

A Hearty Eater.

In a book on gastronomy appears this anecdote of the gastronomic prowess of a Swiss guard in the employment of the Marechal de Villars: "One day the guard was sent for by the marechal, who had heard of his enormous appetite. 'How many sirloins of beef can you eat?' he tentatively asked. 'Ah, monseigneur, for me I don't require many—five or six at the most.' 'And how many legs of mutton?' 'Legs of mutton? Not many—seven or eight.' 'And fat pullets?' 'Oh, as to pullets, only a few—a dozen.' 'And of pigeons?' 'As to pigeons, monseigneur, not many—forty, perhaps fifty.' 'And larks?' 'Larks, monseigneur? Always.'"
